NORTH CAROLINA CHILDREN'S PICTURE BOOK AWARD CLASSROOM OR LIBRARY ACTIVITIES

Thank you to the many public and school librarians, and teachers from all over the state who make the work of the North Carolina Children's Book Award program possible. Public librarians and school librarians work together gathering nominations, promoting the program, reading the books to children, sharing related activities with children, selecting titles, and sponsoring the voting for the North Carolina Children's Book Award program each year. Each of you encourages students to read the nominated books and to participate in the Book Award Program. It is your support and involvement in the program that guarantees its continuation and success.

A special thanks to the following librarians for your efforts during the 2010-2011 year by attending the selection meeting, managing the year-long business of the committee, and writing activities for this booklet. Your efforts are greatly appreciated!

NORTH CAROLINA CHILDREN'S PICTURE BOOK AWARD
CLASSROOM OR LIBRARY ACTIVITIES
2012 Annotated Picture Book Nominations and Activities

Barton, Chris. Shark vs. Train. NY: Little, Brown. 2010.

A shark and a train compete in a series of contests on a seesaw, in hot air balloons, bowling, shooting baskets, playing hide-and-seek, and more, as two boys play.

Brennan-Nelson, Denise. Willow. Chelsea, MI: Sleeping Bear Press. 2008.

In art class, neatness, conformity, and imitation are encouraged, but when Willow brings imagination and creativity to her projects, even straight-laced Miss Hawthorn is influenced.

Donaldson, Julia. What the Ladybug Heard. NY: Henry Holt & Company. 2009

Although much quieter than the farm animals that moo, cluck, or oink, a gentle ladybug is instrumental in foiling a plan to steal the farm's prize-winning cow.

Hill, Laban Carrick. Dave the Potter: Artist, Poet, Slave. New York: Little, Brown. 2010.

Chronicles the life of Dave, a nineteenth-century slave who went on to become an influential poet, artist, and potter.

MacLachlan, Patricia. I Didn't Do It. New York : Katherine Tegen Books. 2010.

In a series of poems, excited puppies relate such new discoveries as the mailman comes every day and food tastes better eaten off a human's plate.

Perry, John. The Book that Eats People. Berkeley: Tricycle Press. 2009

The reader is warned to be careful around this book, which has already eaten several people and is always hungry.

Ramsey, Calvin. Ruth and the Green Book. Minneapolis, MN: Carolrhoda Books. 2010.

When Ruth and her parents take a motor trip from Chicago to Alabama to visit her grandma, they rely on a pamphlet called "The Negro Motorist Green Book" to find places that will serve them. Includes facts about "The Green Book."

Rosenthal, Amy Krouse. Spoon. New York: Disney/Hyperion Books. 2009.

Spoon's always been a happy little utensil. But lately, he feels like life as a spoon just isn't cutting it. He thinks Fork, Knife, and The Chopsticks all have it so much better than him. But do they? And what do they think about Spoon?

Sattler, Jennifer Gordon. Sylvie. New York: Random House Children's Books

When Sylvie the pink flamingo learns her color comes from the little pink shrimp she eats, she decides to expand her choices, trying everything under the sun and, unfortunately, overdoing it.

Sauer, Tammi. Mr. Duck Means Business. NY: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers. 2011.

Mr. Duck enjoys a quiet morning routine on his private pond every day until other animals mistakenly think he has invited them to join him.

Stein, David Ezra. Interrupting Chicken. Somerville, MA: Candlewick Press. 2010.

Little Red Chicken wants Papa to read her a bedtime story, but interrupts him almost as soon as he begins each tale.

Willems, Mo. City Dog, Country Frog. New York: Hyperion Books for Children. 2010.

Through the seasons, whenever City Dog visits the country he runs straight for Country Frog's rock to play games with him, but during the winter things change for them both.

Shark vs. Train
Author: Chris Barton

Illustrator: Tom Lichtenheld

Related Books:

Sharks: biggest! littlest! by Sandra Markle

Trains by Jean Coppendale

Traction Man by Mini Grey

Related Websites:

http://tomlichtenheld.com/childrens_books/images/activity_guides/SharkVsTrain_ActivityBooklet_2p.pdf

(Illustrator’s activity guide)

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Invite students to select two other toys and create a sequel to Shark vs. Train by writing about different places, races, or contests that those two particular toys might have together.
- Revisit the book and talk about each situation the characters are put in and why the advantage goes to the shark (diving into a pool), the train (serving lemonade from its tanker cars), or neither (playing video games).
- Pick two toys out of a box. Divide into two teams. Each team writes down the best attributes of each toy on a poster board. Decide if either toy would be able to beat Shark or Train in the various races.

Science/Math:

- Research different types of trains, graph type of fuel/purpose/speed, etc. Identify the type of train used in the book.
- Research different types of sharks, graph attributes/habitat/length/etc. Identify the type of shark used in the book. Use Web 2.0 tools to create these graphs.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Make a shark hat. Use any hat pattern; add a zigzag trim around the edge of the hat to make it look like your head is being eaten by a shark.
- Make a stovepipe hat to mimic the funnel of a train. Add “smoke” cutouts at the top.
- Readers Theater- Invite students to perform the book using two voices.

Enrichment Express:

- Have students pick a toy out of a box. Tell why this toy is the best and how it would perform against another toy picked by a different student.

Willow

Author: Denise Brennan Nelson and Rosemarie Brennan

Illustrator: Cyd Moore

Related Books:

The Dot by Peter H. Reynolds

I Ain’t Gonna Paint No More! by Karen Beaumont

Wait! No Paint! By Bruce Whatley

Related Websites:

<http://www.gale.cengage.com/pdf/TeachersGuides/WillowGuide.pdf>

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Write an acrostic poem using the word Willow.
- Research willows and other trees.
- Willow treasures her art book. Write about one of your treasured things and why you treasure it. Illustrate if you wish.
- Write about what Willow sees looking out her bedroom window with a spyglass.

Science/Math:

- Research how we see colors.
- Use prisms to explore light and color.
- Using Big Trees chart on website above, find which tree is tallest, biggest circumference, largest canopy spread etc.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Use crayons/colored pencils/paints and let the children “paint” anything they want “any way they want.”
- Using three shapes (i.e. circle, square, triangle) have students create a drawing combining the shapes.

Enrichment Express:

- Invite an artist/art teacher to talk about careers in art.

I Didn’t Do It

Author: Patricia MacLachlan and Emily MacLachlan Charest

Illustrator: Kathy Schneider

Related Books:

Animal Poems by Valerie Worth (ill. by Steve Jenkins)

Little Dog Poems by Kristine O’Connell George

Once I Ate a Pie by Patricia MacLachlan and Emily MacLachlan Charest

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Write responses to one of the poems from a human point of view.
- Write a poem about a dog or pet.
- Write a blog or journal entry from a dog’s or pet’s point of view.
- Visit the Humane Society or the ASPCA websites and read the biographies of animals available for adoption, then write a story about one of the animals featured.

Science/Math:

- Graph favorite puppy crimes (eating slippers, muddy tracks, etc.).
- Research the price of food, vet and grooming costs for the life span of a dog to find out how much it costs to own a dog.
- Have your students survey the class about their favorite dog breeds or pets and graph the results.
- Create a “Pet 101” video show (training, care, etc.).

Social Studies:

- Invite an expert to speak (dog trainer, therapy dog owner, Humane Society, or vet).

Art/Music/Drama:

- Host a pet poetry party.
- Write No Name as a poem for two voices and pair students to practice.
- Paint pet pictures to display with pet haiku or other poetry.
- June is Adopt a Cat Month, and October is Adopt a Dog Month. Create posters for one of the months.

Enrichment Express:

- Share dog jokes or riddles from Give a Dog a Bone or Janet Wall’s How to Love Your Dog website at www.loveyourdog.com/riddles.html.
- Hold a pet food drive, and collect cans and bags of pet food to donate to a local animal shelter.

The Book That Eats People

Author/Illustrator: John Perry/Mark Fearing

Related Books:

The Wolves in the Walls by Neil Gaiman and Dave McKean

Wolves by Emily Gravett

There Are No Cats in this Book! by Viviane Schwarz

Websites:

<http://www.bookthateatspeople.com/>

Activities:

Related Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Write an original story based on one of the characters the book eats.
- Select any object of your choosing to replace the book and create an alternate ending.
- Is it possible for books or ideas to be threatening to other people? Talk about the idea of challenged books and research the concept of intellectual freedom.

Science/Math:

- Choose a predator and research how its characteristics vary from the book.
- The book changes places with dolphins; create your own trivia questions based on these animals.

Social Studies:

- Newspaper clippings serve as background; create a collage based on today’s newspaper.
- Discuss the role of community and the history surrounding the Neighborhood Watch.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Design an original book cover; what does your picture say, or doesn’t say, about the content of your story?
- The use of panels often reflects events in a sequence. Create your own visual narrative by drawing four pictures within panels.
- Act out the scenes based on the book’s emotions.
- Listen to different types of music. What style of music best suits the mood of the story?

Enrichment Express:

- Create a list of titles the book can eat and discuss why.

www.ruthandthegreenbook.com

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Create a “word cloud” or collage using Wordle (www.wordle.com) to highlight reactions or feelings about the story.
- Re-write the story changing key elements...e.g. how would the story be different if they were traveling through the Northern states only, had they not found out about the green book, had Ruth not taken Brown Bear.

Science/Math:

- Using an atlas or road maps, plan a trip from Chicago to Alabama. Calculate the mileage, the cost of gas, food, lodging, etc. for a trip taken in 1952. Compare to a trip taken in present times.

Social Studies:

- Research the originator of the “Green Book” - Victor H. Green and other Civil Rights leaders. Present the findings in a Wax Museum format.
- Research Jim Crow laws for a better understanding of how they made life difficult for those affected.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Sing “This Little Light of Mine,” an African American Spiritual, and “Blowing in the Wind” by Bob Dylan.

Enrichment Express:

- Play your favorite car trip game (i.e. “Going to California”).

Author: Amy Rosenthal

Illustrator: Scott Magoon

Related Books:

Spork by Kyo Maclear

Related Websites:

<http://inventors.about.com/library/inventors/blbleating.htm> (history of utensils)

<http://www.cuisinenet.com/glossary/utensils.html> (utensils in the West)

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Write a paragraph describing a time when you wished to be like someone else. What did you do with these feelings? Did someone help you realize your own special qualities?
- Have each child write one positive comment about every child in the room. [Jane has nice hair, John is helpful, etc.]. After everyone is finished, read out the comments anonymously, at least one per child. Discuss how it makes them feel. Encourage children to continue making positive comments to their classmates.
- Research the history of various utensils, their earliest usage, and materials. Create a time line showing when various utensils became commonly used in households including any alternate uses.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Create a poster or diorama about yourself. What makes you special? Brainstorm with students the attributes and skills that make them unique (hair color, sports/activities, special talents, etc.).
- Charades: Pick two utensil pictures from a box, hidden from the audience. With a partner or alone, dramatize how they can be used together without using speech.
- Have a jam session with spoons and other utensils. Do they sound different or the same? What about plastic versus metal?

Enrichment Express:

- Table setting race: Divide into groups of five or less. Discuss table settings and where each utensil is placed. Use plastic tableware that has been mixed together, sort utensils into proper table settings around a paper plate. See how many place settings each team can make within a set number of minutes.
- Watch the Weston Woods DVD of Spoon.

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Make a list/chart of foods and other items by color, likes and/or dislikes.

Science/Math:

- Research flamingos – what they eat, their habitat, other interesting facts about flamingos.
- Plan a meal using the new government MyPlate guidelines; calculate the cost of the meal.
- Discuss and study rainbows: the colors, why, when, and where they occur.
- Graph favorite colors.

Social Studies:

- Research the importance of certain foods in various cultures; how foods are used in celebrations, customs and holidays in various cultures.
- On a world map, place food labels and stickers on the corresponding country.

Enrichment Express:

- Make a paper plate food collage of food and food items cut from magazines and newspapers.
- After a discussion of flamingos and their signature one-leg stance, create a dance exhibiting the movement of animals, e.g. swaying of an elephant’s trunk, the slithering of a snake, etc.

2012 Annotated Junior Book Nominations and Activities

Angleberger, Tom. The Strange Case of Origami Yoda. NY: Amulet Books. 2010.

Sixth-grader Tommy and his friends describe their interactions with a paper finger puppet of Yoda, worn by their weird classmate Dwight, as they try to figure out whether or not the puppet can really predict the future. Includes instructions for making Origami Yoda.

Appelt, Kathi. Keeper. New York : Atheneum Books for Young Readers. 2010.

On the night of the blue moon when mermaids are said to gather on a sandbar in the Gulf of Mexico, ten-year-old Keeper sets out in a small boat, with her dog BD and a seagull named Captain, determined to find her mother, a mermaid, as Keeper has always believed, who left long ago to return to the sea.

Bemis, John Claude. The Nine Pound Hammer. NY: Random House. 2009.

Drawn by the lodestone his father gave him years before, twelve-year-old orphan Ray travels south, meeting along the way various characters from folklore who are battling against an evil industry baron known as the Gog.

Gidwitz, Adam. A Tale Dark and Grimm. New York : Dutton Children's Books. 2010.

Follows Hansel and Gretel as they walk out of their own story and into eight more tales, encountering such wicked creatures as witches, along with kindly strangers and other helpful folk. Based in part on the Grimms' fairy tales Faithful Johannes, Hansel and Gretel, The seven ravens, Brother and sister, The robber bridegroom, and The devil and his three golden hairs.

Kehret, Peg. Runaway Twin. NY: Dutton Children's Books. 2009

Thirteen-year-old Sunny, accompanied by a stray dog, takes advantage of a windfall to travel from her Nebraska foster home to Enumclaw, Washington, to find the twin sister from whom she was separated at age three.

Law, Ingrid. Scumble. New York : Dial Books for Young Readers. 2010.

Mibs's cousin Ledge is disappointed to discover that his "savvy"--the magical power unique to each member of their family--is to make things fall apart, which endangers his uncle Autry's ranch and reveals the family secret to future reporter Sarah.

Lord, Cynthia. Touch Blue. NY: Scholastic Press. 2010.

When the state of Maine threatens to shut down their island's one-room schoolhouse because of dwindling enrollment, eleven-year-old Tess, a strong believer in luck, and her family take in a trumpet-playing foster child to increase the school's population.

Scieszka, Jon. Spaceheadz. NY: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers. 2010.

On his first day at Brooklyn's P.S. 858, fifth-grader Michael K. is teamed with two very strange students, and while he gradually comes to believe they are aliens who need his help, he has trouble convincing anyone else of the truth.

Singer, Marilyn. Mirror mirror : a book of reversible verse. NY: Dutton Children's Books. 2010

A collection of short poems which, when reversed, provide new perspectives on the fairy tale characters they feature.

Van Cleve, Kathleen. Drizzle. NY: Dial Books for Young Readers. 2010.

When a drought threatens her family's magical rhubarb farm, eleven-year-old Polly tries to find a way to make it rain again.

Vanderpool, Clare. Moon Over Manifest. New York : Delacorte Press. 2010.

Twelve-year-old Abilene Tucker is the daughter of a drifter who, in the summer of 1936, sends her to stay with an old friend in Manifest, Kansas, where he grew up, and where she hopes to find out some things about his past.

Wiles, Deborah. Countdown. New York : Scholastic. 2010.

Franny Chapman just wants some peace. But that's hard to get when her best friend is feuding with her, her sister has disappeared, and her uncle is fighting an old war in his head. Her saintly younger brother is no help, and the cute boy across the street only complicates things. Worst of all, everyone is walking around just waiting for a bomb to fall....

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Write an essay defining a mother or father. Do Signe and/or Doge fulfill the role? Why or why not? Use specific examples from the book to support your answer.
- Write a letter from one character to another (e.g. Signe to Meggie Marie).

Science/Math:

- Research sting rays, crabs, and/or alligator turtles and create presentations.

Social Studies:

- Research mermaid tales/legends. Tell stories from different cultures.
- The author never reveals the year the story takes place; therefore the reader does not know what war Doge was in. How long has Doge lived on Oyster Ridge Road? What war(s) could he have been involved in?
- Draw a map of Keeper's neighborhood, including her house, Doge's house and surfboard "store," Mr. Beauchamp's house, the doc and the cut.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Write and perform a dialogue for Keeper: What does she say to Signe the day after she has taken the boat out? Does she apologize to Signe? Does she explain why she took the book out?
- Invite someone to perform ukulele music.

Enrichment Express:

- Draw/paint/color pictures of mermaids or characters from the book.

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- The author interweaves the story of Hansel and Gretel with a succession of other, lesser-known Grimm tales — “Faithful Johannes,” “The Seven Ravens,” and “Brother and Sister.” Ask students to create a Reader’s Theatre script based on one of the tales.
- Create a fairy tale wiki or blog for your students. Post discussion questions to create an online version of a literature circle.
- Research the Grimm brothers.
- Using the ReadWriteThink website interactive Venn diagram (<http://www.readwritethink.org/files/resources/interactives/venn/>) ask students to compare one of the Grimm tales with another version of the same fairy tale.
- Rewrite a version of a fairy tale reflecting modern day culture and setting.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Create an illustrated map of the places visited by Hansel and Gretel.

Enrichment Express:

- Create a cooperative fairy tale. Begin the story with “Once upon a time” and ask students to add one sentence to the story to create their own version of a fractured fairy tale.

Activities:

Language Arts/Communication Skills/Information Skills:

- Write an essay revealing what Aaron might have been thinking as Tess tried so hard to make him feel like a part of life on Bethsaida Island.
- Write a story about an imagined foster child joining the family.
- Discuss examples of belonging in Touch Blue.

Social Studies:

- Using a map of North America, locate the small islands off of the coast of Maine.
- Visit <http://oneroomschoolhousecenter.weebly.com/index.html> to view historical one-room schoolhouses across the country.
- Research and discuss data on the number of foster families in North Carolina.
- Check websites and books, such as Don't Touch That Toad & Other Strange Things Adults Tell You by Catherine Rondina to discover superstitions. Why do people believe that items or actions are lucky?

Science/Math:

- Visit meteorological sites and make a bar graph comparison of average monthly temperatures in North Carolina and in Maine.
- Take a poll of the 'talents' in the class such as playing a musical instrument, singing, dancing, etc. Create a graph of the results. Then, create a graph of skills students would like to have in their future. Compare the results.
- Watch a few short videos on youtube under the topic of Lobstering.

Art/Music/Drama:

- Create a Monopoly game board, using locations in your town.
- Listen to the songs and lyrics of "I've Got Peace Like a River" and "This is My Father's World" at <http://www.hymnsite.com>.
- Download a "Lobster's Life" coloring book from the Maine Department of Marine Resources. www.maine.gov/dmr/rm/aquarium/lobstercoloringbook.pdf
